

CURES CHRONIC CATARRH

Hymel Cures the Worst Forms of This Disease in Any Part of the System.

It is the height of folly to continue doctoring a catarrhal disease by stomach drugging, when the whole trouble lies in the respiratory organs where nothing can reach the germs but a local direct treatment by inhalation. Hymel is Nature's remedy for the cure of catarrh. Just breathe it a few times daily and it will effect a cure.

You may have catarrh of the stomach, liver or kidneys and Hymel will as surely cure it as it will catarrh of the head and throat. The catarrhal germs are in the mucous membrane or tissues and Hymel not only kills the germs along the air passages, but enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood.

The medicated dry air that goes through the air passages, and into the lungs when Hymel is breathed through the inhaler that accompanies every outfit, is rich in ozone, purely vegetable and filled with marvelous healing and strength-giving qualities.

"If you are tired of stomach drugging and seem to grow weaker all the time, 'throw physic to the dogs' and get well with the health-giving Hymel treatment that is Nature's own method."

Rev. J. B. Cook of Holliston, Mass., says: "My wife has suffered greatly from catarrh for fifteen years. Nearly four weeks ago she commenced to use Hymel and the beneficial effect was immediate. It is very seldom that she needs to clear her head and throat and she is able to rest quietly at night. For years past she had been troubled with pain in her limbs which she supposed was rheumatism, but since she has used Hymel that affliction has disappeared."

The Red Cross Pharmacy will return your money if Hymel does not cure you of catarrh. This shows their faith in the remedy.

BRITISH GRAIN DUTY.

Premier Balfour Unmoved by Petitions For Its Retention.

London, May 16.—Premier Balfour, accompanied by the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, received a large and influential deputation of Unionist members of the house of commons, headed by Mr. Chaplin, a former president of the board of agriculture; members of the house of lords and delegates from the chambers of commerce and of agriculture, who protested against the remission of the grain duty. Mr. Balfour made a long argument in reply to the representations of the deputation, but did not give the slightest indication of conceding the demands. Without the slightest intention on the part of the government, he said, the tax had accidentally given some protection to the millers, thus indirectly and unexpectedly helping the farmers, but the government must not be blamed for remitting the tax. It was never intended to be a protective measure. Protection could not be introduced silently, as if by accident, and without a broad public endorsement of such a change in the national policy.

The premier contended that immediately it became clear that the grain tax divided the two political parties of this country it also became clear that the tax could not be a permanent part of the fiscal system. He did not intend to say that the present system was necessarily permanent. New conditions had arisen since the old free trade policy was adopted, and he could imagine circumstances under which Great Britain by way of retaliation would no longer consent to be made a passive target for other countries living under different conditions. He believed in universal free trade, but at present every country except Great Britain was protected. Great Britain had gained greatly thereby in many ways.

Rebels Choose a New Pretender. Madrid, May 16.—A dispatch from Melilla, Morocco, says the sultan's envoys who are charged with a pacificatory mission to the rebels, have arrived there with $16,000. The rebel chiefs, it is added, have chosen a new pretender, named Hubel Kader. He is a Moor of good family.

KISHINEFF'S HORRORS

Police Gave the Hounded Jews No Protection.

STORIES OF EYEWITNESSES

Jacob Friedman, Who Saw Massacre, Now in New York—Letters From Prominent Russian Hebrews Who Viewed Outrages.

New York, May 16.—On the east side the most talked of development of the Kishineff massacres in Russia is the presence in this city of Jacob Friedman, the glass manufacturer, whose grandfather was killed in the rioting and who is the first survivor of the outbreak to reach this country.

Friedman declares that he was present on the first day of the massacre, being in business with his grandfather, Sholom. While eating dinner a noise was heard, and the old man went to the street to try and pacify the rioters, while the family, consisting of Friedman's wife and four children, looked out of the windows.

Sholom, Friedman said, was beaten with clubs and killed. Afterward he hid in the basement and his family in the rafters, and that night he escaped to the home of a Christian friend, Ivan Fiodor, who lived near. Fiodor, he said, got the family into a wagon and drove them to Sepetkin, his native village. He was given $100 to come to America, and his family are waiting for him to send them the money to come here and live.

Friedman will be cared for by the relief committee for the present.

Letters From an Eyewitness. Next in point of interest to Friedman himself is a letter written by an eyewitness of the scenes in Kishineff to a friend in Odessa, Russia, and transmitted to this city, where it was brought to the office of the Jewish Herald. The letter enters into minute details of the riots and is important from the fact that it tends to show that no police protection was granted to the Jews. Also that the riots were countenanced by the city officers. In part it runs as follows:

"It is impossible to relate to you all that has transpired at the massacre of our brethren at Kishineff. The entire affair might be compared to the outbreak of a volcano pouring down lava on the heads of our unfortunate coreligionists. The frightened women and children hid themselves in cellars and garrets, but even there the mob searched them out. Women were dragged by their hair and their heads crushed against the stone walls. Women kept defending their children until they saw that their honor and the honor of their daughters must be preserved by remaining silent as a grave. In order to accomplish this many a tender mother strangled her babe in order that it should not attract the attention of the rioters.

Tried to Save Holy Scroll. "An old Jew with the appearance of a patriarch was seen running from a synagogue with a holy scroll of the law. A moujik met him, and with one blow of a sharp instrument he cleft his head, scattering his brains on the stones. Many other Jews ran to save God's word from defilement, but they were met by the mob and either stabbed or beheaded. The scroll was afterward spread on the street and torn into shreds.

"Women were dragged out and subjected to unspeakable indignities.

"If you imagine for an instant that this dastardly outrage was committed only by a wild, fanatic mob, without any leadership, you are greatly mistaken. One of the leaders was a notary public—a well known personage of this city. Another was a well to do wine merchant. These two led the mob as generals lead an army. When the poor Jews and their wives and children were driven in the direction of the police stations, they raised their hands and, with cries of agony, appealed to the police captains for protection. The only answer was a derisive laugh and the two words, 'Protch Zshidly!'—'Get out! Miserable Jews!'

The Jewish Daily News has also a long account of the troubles written by a man who is probably the best known Hebrew writer in Russia, but because he openly denounces Russia the paper dares not publish his name, fearing that the vengeance of the Russian government might descend on him for his plain speech. Letters which keep arriving here from Jews of intelligence in no respect lessen the horrors of the riots as first told.

British Activity in the Pacific. Victoria, B. C., May 16.—There are rumors at Esquimaux that a flying squadron will shortly be organized to undertake a two years' voyage around the world. The report is that the Leviathan will be the flagship and seven cruisers will accompany her. The cruise is to be experimental, and if it shall work out as its organizers believe, three new cruiser squadrons will be organized, with bases at Esquimaux, Sydney and Simonstown. The idea is to have cruising squadrons replace the present weak fleets in South American waters and in the Pacific.

Case Against Kent Summed Up. Rochester, N. Y., May 16.—Through-out the day District Attorney Warren summed up in the Kent case. Mr. Warren contended that Ethel Dingle was killed while unconscious. The bloody room in the Whitcomb House was the first point touched upon. The second point insisted upon by Mr. Warren was that a right handed girl would never cut two throats with the razor held in the left hand. Mr. Warren promised the jury that if they would examine the bloody razor with a microscope the bloody thumb marks of a right handed man would be found.

Seditious Play Mollied. Manila, May 16.—A party of Americans stormed the stage of the Libertad theater and stopped a seditious play. The piece, which is historical, has a climax in which the heroine throws the American flag to the ground and raises the standard of the Katipunan secret society. When this scene was reached a score of Americans sprang on the stage, routed the actors and smashed the furniture. The audience fled. Colonel Tolentino, a former insurgent, who wrote the play, will probably be prosecuted.

Degenerate Convict Kills Himself. Buffalo, May 16.—William Lane, thirty-six years old, who on Monday last was sentenced to spend a term of nine years in Auburn prison for criminal assault upon a six-year-old girl, committed suicide in his cell in the Erie county jail as he was about to be taken to Auburn. He cut his throat with a razor and bled to death within a few minutes. There are many conjectures as to how the prisoner came into possession of the razor and a pocketknife, which was also found in his pocket.

No Trolley Cars in Bridgeport. Bridgeport, Conn., May 16.—The conductors and motormen employed by the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company have gone on strike, tying up all the lines in the city. This action followed a two hours' session of the trolley men's union, at which the proposition made by the company in response to the demands of the men was rejected. The company offered a slight increase of wages, but refused recognition of the union. About 225 men are out.

Mysterious Death of Rich Man. Seattle, Wash., May 16.—The body of James S. Mulvey, a member of a wealthy and influential Boston family, was found on the tide flats when the tide went out. The coroner expressed the opinion that Mulvey could not have fallen into the water under ordinary circumstances. He came here in 1899 from California, where he had wealthy relatives. Boston was Mulvey's home. His mother and sister live there now.

Hitchcock, general agent of the passenger department of the Union Pacific on this coast, has retired on a pension in pursuance of E. H. Harriman's pension plan for all his roads. Before coming to this coast for the Union Pacific he was general passenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Mrs. Niles' Friends Surprised She is Saved From Nervous Prostration By Taking Quinona.

"I feel so happy and thankful now that I am well again that I want everyone who is on the verge of nervous prostration to know how QUINONA saved me from a long sickness," says Mrs. W. S. Niles, Cook avenue, South Weymouth, Mass. "My recovery was so complete that not only myself, but my friends are also praising the merits of QUINONA, for I have since learned that they felt the only possible way I could recover my good health was to go away for a long rest. For the past year I have felt myself becoming more and more run down. At first I was only nervous at times, but before long my nerves became completely unstrung. Little things began to fret and worry me and soon I could not do the least bit of work without becoming all upset. It seemed at times as if I couldn't control myself, and mornings I could hardly pull myself together to get ready for the day. I had practically no appetite and I was losing weight right along. I couldn't have kept up much

FATAL FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Apartment House Burned—Death List May Reach Five. Chicago, May 16.—Two lives were lost in a fire that destroyed the Westchester apartment building at 5017 Cottage Grove avenue. One man is missing and is supposed to have perished in the flames, while two persons were probably fatally and others seriously injured by jumping from windows.

The dead are: Louisa Phasca, ten years old; Harry Struble, fifty years old. Samuel Hall, forty-five years old, is missing. The injured are: Theodore Whitte, arm broken; Patrick Bolger, hands cut; Nelson Lundberg, badly burned about head; Mrs. G. D. Hoffman, back broken and internally injured; Louis Herbert, back broken.

The dead girl was found in the hall on the second floor of the building, where apparently she had been overcome by smoke while groping her way to the stairs. The body of Struble was recovered from the basement, where he was accustomed to sleep. It is thought he was rendered insensible by smoke and drowned by the deluge of water from the engines.

The fire started beneath a grocery store which occupied the ground floor of the building and spread rapidly through the air shafts until the entire building was ablaze. Twenty-seven families lived in the apartments on the three upper floors, and many persons narrowly escaped injury in the panic which followed the alarm. The property loss on buildings and contents is estimated at $50,000.

Murderer Cheats the Gallows.

Lexington, Ky., May 16.—William McCarty, wife murderer, who was to have been hanged at 8 a. m., took morphine some time during the night and died at 8:15 a. m. The death watch, Alex McKeever, sat within three feet of McCarty all night, but says he is absolutely at a loss to know how or when he took the drug. At 1 o'clock McCarty became restless and turned over on his cot. Jailer Robert Wallace was in the cell at the time. He accused McCarty of doing something he ought not to do. McCarty called for whisky, but Wallace brought him coffee instead. He drank the coffee and went into violent convulsions.

Fire at the Lake Placid Club.

Plattsburg, N. Y., May 16.—Fire has destroyed the sawmill owned by the Lake Placid club near the Chateaugay railroad station at Lake Placid. Several hundred Italians employed on the railroad, together with the villagers, succeeded in saving the American House and opera house, only fifty feet distant. The loss is $2,000. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it did not catch from forest fires. Melville Dewey, state librarian, is president of the Lake Placid club.

CALVE OUT OF DANGER

Was Near Death From Accidental Aconite Poisoning.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN OFF.

Accident Makes Public the Fact That She Is Not to Marry M. Jules Blois, the Mystic—Her Second Disappointment.

Paris, May 16.—Mme. Calve, who was very ill as the result of taking an overdose of aconite, is reported to be out of danger. She was to have appeared in the evening performance of the "Damnation of Faust," but discovering in the afternoon that she was quite hoarse took a dose of aconite.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon she became ill, and two hours later her condition was so serious that grave fears were felt as to her recovery. The vigorous action of the physicians, however, was successful, and the singer is now thought to be on the road to recovery.

Calve's accident has made public the startling fact that quite recently her engagement to Jules Blois, the mystic, has been broken off. Her intimate friends have known of it for ten days, it is said, but the greatest secrecy has been preserved, as both were so cast down that mutual friends were hopeful of effecting a reconciliation.

Disagree About Settlement.

According to Dame Rumor, the disagreement came about over a settlement which M. Blois wished his fiancée to make upon him so that he might be free from financial cares and at liberty to pursue his philosophical studies. Quarrels over monetary settlements are common in French matrimonial affairs, but this latest reverse, an affair of the heart, following so soon the ungallant treatment accorded her by M. Henri Cain, who jilted her last December on the eve of their marriage for Mile. Guiraudon of the Theatre Comique, has proved a great blow to the singer.

She has been appearing regularly since the disagreement, making a brave show of indifference, but her recent action indicates that she has been keeping up by the use of powerful stimulants. Calve's admirers, with Gallic gallantry, are hoping that the poisoning will have the effect of bringing her and her lover to an understanding.

While a member of the Metropolitan Opera company in New York Calve was greatly admired, and many wealthy Americans paid her devoted attention, but she turned a deaf ear to them. She had been in love for years with M. Cain, noted as a writer of operatic libretti.

M. Cain's Ungallant Conduct.

It is said that for years they wrote each other daily and would have been married but for the objection of M. Cain's parents, who did not wish an opera singer for a daughter-in-law. When they died the marriage was expected to take place, but M. Cain surprised every one by announcing he would lead Mile. Guiraudon to the altar.

While Paris waited for the effect of this announcement on the prima donna she furnished an unexpected surprise by announcing her engagement to Jules Blois, a noted writer on diabolism. She had long been a lover of the occult, out of which grew her strange journey on a camel's back to Egypt and the orient, accompanied only by the Hindoo mystic Swami Vivekananda and a retinue of servants.

On this journey she met in Egypt Mile. Jane Hading and made friends with her after a ten years' feud caused by jealousy. They had both been enamored of the same man, but he had jilted both. On her return to Paris Calve joined the occult circle which met at M. Blois' home. When their engagement was announced it was said that Calve had been hypnotized by the mystic.

Tom Sharkey Badly Injured.

New York, May 16.—Tom Sharkey, the pugilist, was badly injured in a wrestling match at Perth Amboy, N. J., with Hanson, the Danish champion. Sharkey won the first fall and Hanson the second. Hanson got a leg hold on Sharkey and slamming him on the mat pressed both shoulders to the floor. Sharkey was dazed when he got up, and a physician who examined him said a blood vessel in the shoulder had been ruptured and some of the tendons broken.

REAL SENSIBLE IDEA.

Druggist L. R. Rickert Says Mi-o-na's Plan is the Only Fair One.

Rickert & Wells, the popular druggists, have been in the drug business long enough to have their own opinion of the best way of selling medicines.

They say the plan adopted by Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia cure, is the fairest they have ever heard of.

They don't believe that a medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good.

And Mi-o-na is sold under a positive guarantee to cure dyspepsia or refund the money. You simply leave 50 cents on deposit with the Red Cross Pharmacy and if after you have used the box of Mi-o-na you decide that it has done you no good all you have to do is to tell them so and they will return your money.

Thousands of people have been cured of dyspepsia by using this remarkable remedy. It isn't simply a food digester; it is a medicine that puts all of the digestive organs into normal condition and gives ruddy, glowing, vigorous health. A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na, and its continued use will soon give the power to eat anything at any time and not suffer distress afterwards.

Mi-o-na is the only dyspepsia remedy upon the market that is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. This is the strongest proof that can be offered as to the merit of the medicine.

MOON REGULATES RAIN.

Remarkable Discovery as Result of Australian Drought.

Chicago, May 16.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from Vancouver, B. C., gives mail advices from Australia by the steamer Aorangi, which brought over the largest number of passengers on record.

In speaking of the terrible drought still prevailing in Australia, H. C. Russell, the government astronomer of Australia, claims to have made the discovery after long and careful search among astronomical records that the moon regulates the rain. Astronomers of the different Australian colonies have endorsed Mr. Russell's theory. Mr. Russell says:

"I speak positively when I say I have found the moon controls the rain. My researches extend for thirty-six years. Briefly, when the moon is moving south there is plenty of rain, when it is moving north there are years of drought; so there are alternate wet and dry periods, the wet lasting nine years and the dry ten; so that long beforehand preparations can be made for the coming drought."

Astronomers the world over are invited to investigate Mr. Russell's assertion.
